[OFFICIAL.]

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Friday, Sept. 30—9:10 P. M.

To Major-Gen. Dix:

A dispatch from Gen. GRANT, dated at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon at City Point, states that WARREN attacked and carried the enemy's line to-day on their extreme right, capturing a number of prisoners. He immediately prepared to follow up his success.

Gen. MEADE moved from his left this morning, and carried the enemy's line near Poplar Grove Church.

A later dispatch, dated this evening at 5 o'clock, and just received, states that Gen. BUTLER, at 3 P. M., reported that the enemy had just made an assault in three columns on his line, near Chapin's Farm, and had been repulsed.

No report had been received from Gen. MEADE since he carried the enemy's line near the Poplar Grove Church.

No intelligence of Gen. SHERIDAN's operations has been received since Sunday night, except through the Richmond papers, and the latest report from that source that has reached the Department, was the advance of his cavalry to Staunton, heretofore mentioned.

Petersburgh papers of to-day mention a rumor, which they say is not confirmed, that one brigade of SHERIDAN's cavalry was ambushed at Swift Run Creek.

Dispatches from Newbern, received this evening, state that the yellow fever is extensively prevailing at that place, but is not very fatal among the troops. They are encamped outside the town.

A dispatch from Gen. SHERMAN, dated 8:30 o'clock last night, states that he has made an actual exchange of 2,000 of his own army, and made an arrangement with HOOD to send to the other prisoners a supply of clothing, soap, combs, &c.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

DETAILS OF THE MOVEMENT.

The Crossing of the James—The Movement Not a Diversion—Secrecy of the Plan.

From Our Special Correspondent.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE JAMES, THURSDAY, Sept. 29—3 A. M.

The entire Army of the James is in motion. As I write and all through the night, the road passing near Gen. BUTLER's headquarters has echoed to the tramp of infantry and the rumble of artillery and supply trains.

This column of the march is the Tenth Corps (Gen. BIRNEY's) on its way from across the Appomattox, before Petersburgh, to Deep Bottom, where it did gallant service in August, by diverting the enemy when WARREN's corps struck the Weldon Road.

The Eighteenth Corps (Gen. ORD) will evacuate its position at Bermuda Hundred, and take a part in the movement with the Tenth.

There was a singularly quiet excitement all yesterday afternoon and last night at Gen. BUTLER'S Headquarters. High officers with their respective staffs were constantly coming and going, and the portents of a coming something were unmistakable. But not a question was asked, not a whisper uttered, as far as I, a close observer, could ascertain, respecting the object of the movement. By general consent it appears to be one, the success of which mainly depends on a surprise of the enemy, and about Headquarters everybody assumes to know its precise character and intention; and, by common consent, there is nothing said. The subject is completely eschewed. In all my experience I never before knew a plan to be kept so profoundly secret. That it has been, to my mind seems the best augury of its successful execution.

There is a general stir this morning at headquarters. Late last night we were notified to be in the saddle at 5 this morning, provided with blankets, ponchos and two days' rations. The servants are enthusiastic this morning, inky dark as it is yet, preparing coffee and sandwiches by the fires for our consumption.

I am authorized to say that the movement is to be made on the north side of the James. I do not believe it is to be a diversion—quite the contrary. There is great hopefulness and confidence felt everywhere respecting success.

Last night about 10:30 o'clock, very heavy artillery and musketry firing was heard in the direction of Petersburgh. A telegram informs us here that the rebels made an attempt to feel the lines of the Ninth Corps in front of the Jerusalem Plank-road. Firing was continued for an hour, and then ceased. The rebels were doubtless satisfied themselves that we were strong enough.

Lieut.-Col. E. WORTHINGTON SMITH, lately Assistant Adjutant-General of the Tenth Corps, was announced yesterday as Assistant Adjutant-General of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina.

Further Details — The Enemy Surprised—Feeble Resistance—Rebel Attack on the Ninth Corps Front.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Sept. 30.

Passengers from City Point report that early on Wednesday night the Tenth Corps, under Gen. ORD, began to move from their old position to Jones' Neck, on the James River, where a pontoon bridge had been thrown across the river, and immediately began to cross. By 12 o'clock the advance guard succeeded in effecting the crossing in safety, and before daylight the whole corps was over.

An advance was immediately ordered, and the intrenchments on Chapin's Farm were carried with but little resistance on the part of the rebels. There appeared to be but few rebel troops in the intrenchments, and it is thought that they had previously been withdrawn, either to be sent up the Valley to check SHERIDAN, or to the Weldon Road, fearing a blow from GRANT in that direction. We, however, captured 300 or 400 prisoners, and 15 pieces of artillery, as already stated.

The Eighteenth Corps, under BIRNEY, advanced from Deep Bottom about the same time Gen. ORD moved up to the Newmarket Road, and, carried the intrenchments with ease, the rebels showing but little disposition to contest the ground. They appeared to be completely surprised by our troops in that direction.

Of the subsequent movements of our forces nothing was known at City Point when the express left there, and there was nothing to indicate that the advance of ORD or BIRNEY had been checked.

It is confidently believed at City Point that the rebels have withdrawn large numbers of troops from the defences of Richmond, and sent them up the valley to aid EARLY. This being the case, ORD and BIRNEY can make considerable progress before the rebels can concentrate their forces.

On Wednesday night the rebels made a furious attack on our advanced earthworks in front of Fort Sedgewick on the Jerusalem Plank-road. These intrenchments were held by a portion of the Second Brigade of the Third Division of the Ninth Corps, and the rebels were handsomely repulsed with considerable loss. These are the works which were captured from the rebels several weeks ago, and this is the second unsuccessful attempt of the rebels to retake them. The troops attacked were commanded by Col. RUSSELL, of the Twenty-eighth Colored troops. Fort Sedgewick opened fire on the rebels, and accelerated their retreat. RUSSELL had his men in line of battle in two minutes after the attack.

STRATEGY OF THE MOVEMENT.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Sept. 30.

The different movements of the several columns now in motion in Virginia, under control of the Lieutenant-General, reveal the outlines of a grand cooperative combination to be wrought out in the Fall campaign which has opened so brilliantly both in the valley and on the James River. Gen. GRANT lately made in a private letter a statement, too inspiring to be allowed to remain a personal possession, to the effect that he designed making the final record of the Army of the Potomac the most glorious record of the war, certainly, if ample means handled with the highest skill in the execution of a plan of dazzling boldness, afford any augury of success, we have now the assurance that the Fall campaign of the Army of the Potomac will see the results, for which that army has so long battled, at length achieved.

Looking at Richmond as the objective point, public attention will be directed to the operations both of SHERIDAN and GRANT; for they have assumed the aspect of closely related parts of one general scheme.

The Army of the Valley, after holding, during the summer months, a purely defensive attitude, at length took the offensive, attacked the rebel army, defeated it in two brilliant battles, and pushing forward its advance for nearly a hundred miles, has ended by driving the enemy completely out of the Shenandoah Valley. After the slaughter and captures made by SHERIDAN in the two encounters at Opequan Creek, and Fisher's Hill, EARLY was left with a force about 10,000 strong. On being pushed back to Staunton, he found himself confronted by the puzzling problem of determining whether his further retreat should be directed towards Lynchburgh or towards Richmond; a problem further embarrassed by the fact that it was of equal importance that he should be at each of these diverse points.

If he should go towards Charlottesville and Gordonsville, and thence towards Richmond, he exposed Lynchburgh; and it is conceded that the possession of that point by us would be determinative of the fate of Richmond. But, in withdrawing on a line to cover that all-important point, he threw himself off eccentrically from communication with the main rebel force under LEE. This fact seems to have determined him to move Richmond-ward; for, notwithstanding the paucity of our information from SHERIDAN's force for some days past, all the indications go to show that EARLY has made his way due eastward to Charlottesville, and from thence, if followed up, he must fall back on LEE.

In adopting this course the rebels were doubtless in part governed by the consideration that the enormous difficulties of an advance by the Union force to Lynchburgh, or rather of keeping up the prodigiously extended line of supplies it would have to maintain there, might be relied on to prevent Gen. SHERIDAN's going there. If this reasoning on the part of the rebels be sound we shall doubtless find SHERIDAN advancing after EARLY by the same line the latter has adopted as his line of retreat.

Now, what will be observed as the result of the following out of this design is, that it will place him in a most advantageous position, either for a blow at Lynchburgh or for direct cooperation with GRANT in the attack on Richmond. Charlottesville, it will be noted, is on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, which will afford him the means of supplying himself in any operations on that line.

On the other hand, the holding of Lynchburgh would necessitate the wagoning of supplies either from Harper's Ferry or Gauley Bridge on the Kanawha, as a base. Now the latter line of communications is nearly a hundred and fifty, the former nearly two hundred miles long. Gen. SHERIDAN would solve a new problem in the Quartermasters Department if he could keep up such a line. It is obvious that from any point on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, whether Charlottesville, Gordonsville, or Orange Court-house, he could operate to far greater advantage.

Turning now to the work Gen. GRANT has under his immediate eye, we find him executing one of those sudden and secret moves with which he loves to rack and bewilder the enemy. Two corps have been transferred to the north or left bank of the James River, and have gained a point and front of operations from which Richmond can be seriously invested. Gen. GRANT has twice before attempted this same operation; but in each case has been foiled. The object aimed at in every instance was the possession of the commanding heights at Chapin's Farm on the left bank of the James, and nearly opposite Fort Darling, which is on the right bank. In neither of the two previous attempts were we able to gain this position. It has now been won. Gen. ORD's command on Thursday carried this position with its strong line of fortifications. At the same time BIRNEY's corps holds the approach to Richmond by the Newmarket road, and a front of battle is formed facing Richmond from the south, and but six miles distant from the rebel capital. The heights at Chapin's Farm are within shelling distance of Fort Darling, and we may now fairly look to see that stubborn element eliminated from the problem of the capture of Richmond. This done, the left of the line can be thrown across the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad, which will cut off the rebel supplies quite as effectually as our hold on the railroad below Petersburgh.

Whether, under these circumstances, LEE can hold Petersburgh, is a question of momentous import, which it will be necessary for him very soon to determine. It is certainly difficult to see how he can at once do so, and repel the advance by the north side of the James. We are therefore hourly looking for the announcement of the evacuation of Petersburgh. In withdrawing from this point LEE will throw his force into the fortifications proper of Richmond, and the siege of that city will begin in form.

That LEE, with his army reinforced by EARLY's column, will be able to present a stout and stubborn resistance to the advance of the Union army, may readily be believed; and we need hardly look for the possibility of carrying Richmond by a coup de main.

In this state of facts the public mind may again be perturbed by the vision of bloody assaults. But I look for no such results. Richmond will be closely invested. Operations on ther lines will shake LEE's hold on the rebel capital cut off his supplies, and bring before him the necessity of either fight or flight. If he attempts the offensive, it will be precisely what the army has most at heart; while if he attempts a retreat, he will find himself too closely enveloped to make this possible save with sacrifices that must ruin his army. In every sense, therefore, the situation before Richmond is in the very highest degree encouraging.

WM. SWINTON.

Arrival of Deserters—Death of Lieut. Ames—Skirmishing—Repulse of a Rebel Attack on Fort Sedgwick.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Wednesday Evening, Sept. 28.

Two deserters came in last night in front of Col. RUSSELL's brigade, of the Ninth Corps, giving themselves up to the colored pickets on the line. They were conscripts, and though they had served out their time could not get their discharge. As soon as they found that they would not be forced into our ranks they made up their minds to desert, expressing their intentions to their comrades. This they accomplished, and they are now on their way North, under the terms of Gen. GRANT's proclamation.

The rebels seem to have got rid of their noted antipathy to the colored soldiers. Some time ago they made it a rule to keep up a continual fire wherever those soldiers made their appearance; but now they remain as quiet on that part of the line occupied by the colored troops as at any other point. When deserters come in, (many of them Virginians,) they are always willing to accept food from whatsoever hands it may come, and they can often be seen sitting and eating with the negroes, and acting toward them as though their skins were as white as their own.

Lieut. AMES, of AMES' Battery, was killed on Monday by a rebel sharpshooter. The ball entered his side, and he died almost instantly.

A good deal of firing has been indulged in by both sides to-day along the centre and right, but without any result of importance.

Quite a lively skirmish occurred at dark last evening, while our pickets were being relieved on the centre of the line.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Sept. 30.

The news brought to-day by the passengers from City Point, who left there yesterday, has been anticipated by the official bulletin.

They mention that on Wednesday night the rebels made an attack on our advanced intrenchments in front of Fort Sedgwick, near the Jerusalem road, but were easily repulsed.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Gen. Grant's Army—Heavy Firing on Our Left—Removal of Patients.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, Sept. 29, VIA BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.

The United States hospital steamer George Leary arrived here this afternoon, with 200 sick and 60 wounded soldiers from the Tenth Army Corps Hospital.

They report that heavy firing was heard at the front, on our left, from 7 o'clock last evening until 1 o'clock this (Thursday) morning. The result of the firing was not known at the time the steamer left.

The removal of patients from the hospitals at the front, as well as other movements now going on, indicate immediate activity with the Army of the Potomac.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, Sept. 29.

The steamer Continental, from New-York, bound to New-Orleans, put in here this morning, and reports that she took in tow from New-York the barge Resolute, laden with hay for the Government, and when twenty miles south by east from Absecomb Light, the barge filled with water and went down. No lives were lost.

Movements of Gen. Hooker.

BALTIMORE, Friday, Sept. 30.

Gen. HOOKER, accompanied by Mr. E. P. WEBSTER, private Secretary of the Secretary of War, and others, arrived here last evening from Washington and took the cars of the Northern Central Railroad for the North. His special orders have not been made known.

THE WAR IN MISSOURI.

Evacuation of Pilot Knob by Gen. Ewing—The Country Below Merrimac Bridge Abandoned—Gen. Pleasanton to Command in the City.

ST. LOUIS, Thursday, Sept. 29.

Gen. EWING, after blowing up the magazine, evacuated Pilot Knob, brought away his entire command, and will reach Harrison Station, on the Southwest Branch Railroad, to-night.

There is much rejoicing throughout the city at the escape of Gen. EWING and his gallant little army.

Col. FLETCHER, the "Radical" candidate for Governor, commanded one of the regiments of this command.

Gen. SMITH evacuated De Soto this morning, and brought his forces to Jefferson Barracks, twelve miles below the city.

The entire country below the Merrimac Bridge has been abandoned.

Gen. SMITH arrived in this city to-night.

The Unionists along the North Missouri Railroad are intensely excited over the Centralia massacre, and call for the extermination of all rebels and their sympathizers.

The organization of the citizens has so far progressed that business will be resumed to-morrow, but the stores are to be closed daily at 3 o'clock to give opportunity to drill.

The appointment of Gen. BLAIR to the command of the defences of the city has created great dissatisfaction and much indignation among a portion of the citizens, and Gen. ROSECRANS modified the order and has since promised to supersede BLAIR on the arrival of Gen. PLEASONTON in the city.

Senator B. GRATZ BROWN has been assigned to the command of the militia.

Volunteering is rapidly progressing again.

A Union meeting was held in Court-house Square, to-night, to celebrate SHERIDAN's victories in the Shenandoah Valley. Gen. GRANT's dispatch announcing the advance on Richmond, created the wildest enthusiasm and delight.

Rebels infest the entire country south of De Soto, plundering everybody they meet. They have lists of all the Union men through the country which they pass, whom, it is said, they will kill on sight. They conscript all rebel sympathizers, old men, and boys of 15.

The city is full of refugees from that section, and large numbers are emigrating to Illinois and other States.

There are about 8,000 militia at Camp Sheridan, ready for service.

Troops continue to arrive from Illinois and other States, giving material strength to the Department.

Further Particulars of the Defense of Pilot Knob—The Movements of the Enemy Involved in Mystery.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.

Bapt. HILL gives a detailed account of the defense of Pilot Knob, but it does not differ materially from the report already telegraphed. At one time the rebels were so near the fort that they got on the drawbridge, but they were driven back with great slaughter and forced to retreat.

Our men fired about three hundred rounds each. The garrison was not pursued after leaving the fort.

A train of sixty-four wagons had been destroyed by the rebels between Irondale and Mineral Point, and the men massacred without demanding their surrender.

One brigade of Gen. SMITH's force is now stationed at the Merrimac Bridge, a few miles below the Jefferson Barracks, the remainder of the command being at the latter place.

Nothing is known this morning of the whereabouts or movements of the enemy. The towns of Ironton, Arcadia, Mineral Point and Potosi, suffered great injury. The crops in that country are entirely destroyed, and many citizens are utterly ruined.

A party of rebels were reported to be moving yesterday morning via Richwood, Washington County, toward the South Branch Railroad, but no tidings have yet been received of damage to the road.

GEN. SHERMAN'S COMMUNICATIONS.

Movements of Forrest and Rousseau.

NASHVILLE, Friday, Sept. 30.

FORREST on the night of the 28th was at Fayetteville with nearly his whole force, en route to the Chattanooga Railroad. Part of the road was destroyed by a small body of rebels. Parties of rebel cavalry are scattered along the line of the railroad.

An attack is apprehended at Duck and Elk River bridges on the Tennessee and Alabama Railroad. All the bridges between Athens and Pulaski, a distance of thirty miles, have been destroyed.

Gen. ROUSSEAU was at Christiana last night. During the night the telegraph wire was cut below that place. This morning there has been no communication south of Murfreesboro.

Col. J. L. DONALDSON, Chief Quartermaster of the Department of the Cumberland, has been promoted to be Brevet Brigadier-General. Since his arrival here he has opened the Northwestern, Tennessee, and Alabama and Clarksville Railroads.

FROM MOBILE.

Mobile to be Taken at our Leisure—Admiral Farragut—His Great Popularity Among the Officers and Seamen—Prospects on the Texas Coast—Capture of the Rescue—Matagorda—The Part Taken by the Monitors in the Recent Battles.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

NEAR MOBILE, Friday, Sept. 23, 1864.

Mobile is at our mercy. It is for us to say when it shall fall and how. While the eager, expectant North are waiting to hear that the Federal flag has been hoisted over the doomed city, FARRAGUT is scattering his brave fleet in every direction. The land forces are now engaged in another expedition—where, we know not. Our monitors, the Chickasaw and Winnebago, are above, within shelling distance of the city.

A long line of torpedoes and other engines of destruction are to be removed or destroyed, and then Mobile must quietly bid good-bye to the Confederacy forever.

As it now is, they are continually fearing an attack, are ever on the qui vive—dare not detach their garrison to the relief of HOOD—and are unable to send out their blockade-runners or gunboats.

A few days since the Selma—our captured gunboat—made a reconnoissance near Dog River Bar. The Morgan ventured out after her, threatening terrible revenge, but was soon compelled to return to the city.

Do not look for the speedy occupation of Mobile by our forces. It is virtually captured now. We can take formal possession at our dignified leisure.

The immortal FARRAGUT has swept the decks in this department. Only Galveston of the Texas coast remains. It had been supposed here that it would be almost impossible to pass Fort Morgan without great loss of ships and men. We now believe that with the iron soul of our Admiral all things are possible except defeat.

Secretary WELLES says, in one of his reports, that the department deliberated for a long time before making selection of the man to command this squadron—for "there were many reasons that made it the most important and difficult ever intrusted to the command of any one navy officer." But although we were removed from the seat of Government, and burdened with double the amount of responsibility of any other squadron, FARRAGUT has now completed his task, or nearly so, and we are daily expecting to hear of his transfer to some other station.

But it is said that he declares that his gallant fleet, that have followed him in storm and battle for these three dark years of war, must go with him. He must have his old tools to work with.

Every officer and seaman, every messenger-boy and contraband in the West Gulf Squadron, will be sorry to have him leave them. He has ever been a friend to our brave boys in all their trials and deprivations. Any one can feel at home in his presence.

"All I want of a man is to fight," he declares, and acts upon that principle. He is greater in the minor concerns of his administration than in his victories, even. There are many grumblers here, as everywhere, but no one breathes a word against the Admiral. When the thunder of cannon shall no longer be heard, and, in the calmness of enduring peace, your children shall record the biographies of our deliverers, it will be found that FARRAGUT has won many grander victories than those of New-Orleans and Mobile Bay.

Fort Morgan looks sad and dreary, like "the vineyard of war void of understanding." The officers' quarters are burned down, and the large guns are dismounted. It is garrisoned, however, with a competent force.

The monitors are well and hearty, and ready for any service that may be required. It is declared that they are even in a better condition than they were before the battles.

After the true facts in regard to the part performed by the Monitors in the actions in Mobile Bay shall be investigated, it will be found that the first impressions received by the people of the North are wrong. They have more than sustained their reputation. But they need a bold and skilful leader to make them effective. They have no intuition, and cannot guide themselves.

The rebels continue to assert that Montgomery has been captured by the Federals.

The U. S. steamer Connecticut arrived here on the 21st, with a supply of seamen to take the places of those whose terms of service have expired. The department has found it necessary to detain very many long after the expiration of their enlistments. It is to be hoped that all will now have an opportunity to get their discharge.

The Matagorda escaped from Galveston with a large cargo of cotton, but was captured by the Magnolia near Tortugas. The cotton business is becoming quite brisk on the Texan coast, and you may expect to hear of important captures this Fall and Winter.

Affairs in Arkansas.

NEWS FROM LITTLE ROCK.

From the St. Louis Republican, Sept. 25.

We had the pleasure yesterday of meeting a gentleman who has been a resident of Little Rock, Ark., for the past seven months, and who left that city Saturday last, on his way to his old home in Lincoln, Illinois. This gentleman represents the season as having been extremely unhealthy in the region of Little Rock, and far more so than has for some years been known by the people living there. Refugees are constantly coming in from the more southern sections, in a sad condition of poverty and disease. The army authorities kindly furnish them with rations, but being to a large extent deprived of shelter, and being poorly clad, their sufferings are such as to appeal fondly to the sympathies of the humane. There is considerable military activity at Little Rock. Price crossed the White River at Salina on Wednesday of last week, going in a northern direction, with eight or ten thousand troops and several pieces of artillery. An expedition under Gen. Mowas was fitting out at Brownsville to pursue the rebels, and if possible bring them to an engagement. On the way down White River from Devall's Bluff several transports were met loaded with troops, believed to belong to Gen. A. J. SMITH's command recently stationed at Morganza.

Politics are rather quiet at Little Rock, though the people are not indifferent to the great contest going on in the country, from which they are denied the privilege of actively participating, as there will be no vote cast in Arkansas. The soldiers generally make little demonstration as to their preferences while in camp, but on occasions when they are moved from one point to another they are in the habit of shouting for their favorites. It is noticed that McCLELLAN's friends are very numerous in the army about Little Rock, constituting, our informant thinks, a majority of the whole. On the way down White river the troops that were met going up on transports, several boat loads, were observed to be almost unanimous for "Little Mac," making the woods ring and resound with their enthusiastic and repeated huzzas for that gallant General. This is no exaggeration, designed for political purposes, but an unvarnished statement of a fact.

FROM CANADA.

The Lake Pirates—What they Proposed to Do—The Coming Presidential Election.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ST. CATHERINES, C. W., Wednesday, Sept. 28, 1864.

The bold and daring act of the secession mutineers and Southern rebels here, in the seizure of the steamers Philo Parsons and Island Queen, near the Bass Islands, in Lake Erie, on the 10th inst., is but the beginning, we fear, of the destruction of property and loss of life, as well as the commencement of the rebel programme hatched up by your refugee traitors, domiciled temporarily in Canada; and unless your authorities are extremely vigilant and doubly diligent along this Northern frontier, for the next three months, we shall expect to hear of other and more startling exhibitions of their madness judging from present appearances and from steadding indications. The Copperhead traitors and the secession vipers in Canada, have for the past two years been hissing, howling and wagging their tails terribly, and would [have long ere this, not only rescued their Johnson's Island brethren, burnt Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester and Oswego, seized many of your unarmed vessels, propellers and steamboats, on these Northern lakes, and committed divers other high treasonable acts and foul deeds, but for the vessel, letter and newspaper notoriety of their intentions leaking out and appearing in print previous to the appointed times and designated days for their sedition ous accomplishment. And now that they have escaped scot free in this, their first adventure, they are the more emboldened to again sally forth and seize their much coveted prey, for they have plenty of arms, men and money furnished them by the Copperheads of the North, and by the Rattlesnakes of the South: and if they don't succeed this Fall in obtaining "beauty and booty" to their hearts' content, it will not be owing to their faults but to your vigilance. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" now more than ever, and in the United States more than in any other country on the face of the globe, is being exemplified and verified during your big rebellion in your own borders.

The recent letter of FREMONT, announcing his withdrawal from the Presidential canvass, has caused loud and bitter curses from secession lips here, knowing as they now do full well that Father ABRAHAM's lease of the White House will surely be renewed by a very large majority of the people of the United States for four years from the 4th of March next; while General B. MCCLELLAN's prospects of being elected, are growing beautifully less day by day as the fifth of November approaches. If eternal infamy and everlasting disgrace were ever earned and are due to disloyalty, then the whole brood of traitors and the big nest of Copperhead vipers now either in open arms against the Government of the United States, or in secret, stealing sympathy with them, will most assuredly be meted out to all these disloyalists and disunionists, and their names hereafter will be recorded and appear on the pages of American history with the Arnolds, the Burrs, as well as the Guy Fawkes and the Robespiereson those of Europe.

If we are any prophet, or the son of a prophet, we predict that the Confederacy is on its last legs, and will very soon tumble down, Dagon like; that the final extinguishment of negro Slavery draws near; that mob law and bowie-knife law—Southern statutes—will all speedily find their graves with the end of this rebellion; and that the United States of America, being purified and purged from all their dross, will arise and shine forth among the nations of earth, clear, fair, pure and prosperous; and be a "great light" yet in the world!

When the American historian shall hereafter write a faithful record of this wicked rebellion; when the angel of death shall have sheathed his sword; when the martyrs of freedom shall all have been numbered and receive their just meed of praise; when the living liberators and heroes of the nation shall all be crowned; when the Union shall have been restored; when the whole brotherhood are once more united, prosperous and happy; when the wicked workers shall all reap their rewards of punishment, shame and ignominy—then will dawn a glorious day and appear a brighter sky on Columbia's soil, and a millennium of joy and a jubilee of freedom will be sounded throughout the whole earth.

OLIVER SEYMOUR PHELPS.

Philadelphia vs. New-York.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Three or four weeks ago, there were four hundred and fifty soldiers, Maine men, remnants of regiments, and many among them wounded, going home on furlough by the Fall River line. The Government gave them their passage, but no rations. The few passengers, who learned that these men were supperless, promptly did what they could toward supplying them, and the very waiters stripped the tables of every crumb that could be spared for the wounded heroes, who deserved, I think, something better of their countrymen than an alms; but the majority left the boat for the cars, having had neither supper or breakfast, and I can hardly fancy a more woful or more shameful sight than these poor fellows hobbling with their crutches down the steep stairs, and risking the loss of the train in their famished eagerness, half of them to be told that not so much as a crust was left.

New-York sent Maine's sons to her hungry; and this happens not once or twice, but over and again, almost weekly. Will you tell the people this, and add that in Philadelphia are buildings known as "The Cooper Shop" and "Refreshment Saloon," where soldiers are washed and fed—that they have a kitchen in operation, tables spread, and an organized committee in constant attendance—and that Philadelphia lets no regiment, of whatever State, whether going to or from battle, pass hungry through her streets.

I cannot believe that we love our brave boys less than in our sister city, or that this evil requires for remedy anything but to be known.

A WOMAN OF NEW-YORK.

Politics in Connecticut.

SALISBURY, Conn., Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1864.

The political campaign opened most auspiciously with us last evening, at which time a large audience congregated at our Academy Hall, to hear an address from Hon. C. M. DEPEW, of Albany.

Mr. DEPEW drew a most faithful portraiture of the issues now at stake; said there never had been a Presidential contest since the adoption of the Constitution where the issues at stake were so momentous as the present; that the present war was not inaugurated by President LINCOLN's Administration, but by that of JAS. BUCHANAN; showed us the folly of the "immediate cessation of hostilities" just as we apparently are closing the contest; that Gen. MCCLELLAN was a gentleman of energy, and worthy in private life; but was made the pliable tool of the Peace party, &c.

Suffice it to say, that Mr. DEPEW gained the closest attention from his audience, and held it for an hour and a half.

At the close of the address, the "Red, White and Blue Club of Salisbury" was organized by the election of GEO. COPPING, Esq., as President, and Mr. JOHN C. HOLLEY, Secretary, and sixty names were obtained on the spot as signatures to the Constitution.

We are situated in a dark corner; the very Egypt of the State; but we hope and expect to see our town vote given for the nominees of the only party now in the field for "unconditional surrender" of the rebels.

NEW BOOKS.

FIRESIDE TRAVELS. By JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL. 12mo. Boston: TICKNOR & FIELDS.

In any book with Professor LOWELL'S name attached to it the reader is sure of meeting with acute observation, fine and delicate fancy, a lively sense of the humorous, and a graceful diction that gives point and vivacity to every sentence. These qualities will all be found in the volume before us, but those who really appreciate LOWELL'S talents, and regret the rarity of his appearances in public, will be disappointed to observe how thin is the staple of the work. It is composed of four or five magazine articles, originally published, ten years ago, in Putnam's Monthly, and the Graham of that period, and having served their turn in this capacity, were scarcely worth rescuscitating in all the luminous emblazonment of Messrs. TICKNOR'S clear open type and hot pressed paper. Two of them relate to home subjects "Cambridge Thirty Years Ago" and a "Moosehead Journal." These are decidedly the most attractive portion of the book, and are written con amore, with a far-searching wealth of allusion and occasional happy grotesqueness of idiom that recalls not faintly some of CHARLES LAMB'S descriptive essays. "Leaves from a Journal in Italy" occupy the remainder of the volume, and have additions from old letters and journals written on the spot. Though they suffer from the immense mass of printed matter extant on the same perennial topic, they are redeemed from commonplace by the individuality of the writer who says his wish was "to describe not so much what he went to see, as what he saw that was most unlike what one sees at home." Fireside Travels must be accepted as an earnest of greater things from Prof. LOWELL, and we hope their favorable reception will incite him to further confidences with the public.

POEMS OF THE WAR. By GEORGE H. BOKER, 12mo., Boston: TICKNOR and FIELDS.

Many of Mr. Boker's lyrics show deep and intense feeling. He writes as one who perceives the eternal significant relations of things through the mists and vapors that obscure them to ordinary vision, and his poems will be recognized in the future as veritable and spirited outbursts of the same strenuous patriotism that called forth embattled thousands in defense of the right from the desk, the workshop, the factory, the loom and the anvil, and wherever men congregate in the peaceful vocations of life. At the same time it must be owned that there is an appearance of effort about many of them, arising from the indubitable fact that the poetical relations of current events, such as the battles, sieges and skirmishes, now of every day occurrence, are not those which ordinarily claim our regard. The personal interests involved are often too deep and agonizing for the statistical details too raw and recent—to furnish proper material for poetry. The events want mellowing by time, and must outgrow the domain of the newspapers before they become fitting subjects for the muse. All that can be done Mr. BAKER has accomplished. He is the Tyrtæus of the war, and freemen may gain strength of purpose and encouragement from his vigorous strains.

THE CONFLICT AND THE VICTORY OF LIFE. A Memoir of Mrs. CAROLINE F. KEITH, Missionary of the Protestant Episcopal Church in China. Edited by her brother, WILLIAM C. TENNEY. 12mo. New-York: D. APPLETON & Co.

This ample and closely printed volume gives a full and interesting account of one too early lost from the field of duty where her chosen position was. CAROLINE PHŒBE TENNEY was the daughter of a New-England lawyer, brought up under the usual influences of that region to a firm sense of self-dependence and reliance on her own efforts, which induced her to spend some years in the South as a private teacher. Her parents were congregationalists; her own convictions led her to join the Unitarians for a few years, when she finally united with the Episcopalian Church. Deepening religious consciousness led her to determine in embracing the life of a missionary, and in August, 1850, she landed in China as a missionary of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn. At Shanghai she became acquainted with, and afterward married Rev. CLEVELAN KEITH, a fellow laborer in the work of christianizing China in 1853. Their joint exertions, interrupted only by a brief visit to America, continued until her death at San Francisco, where, broken down in health, she had touched on the return voyage home. Her husband perished, shortly afterward, in the conflagration of the Golden Gate, on the coast of California, July, 1862. Mrs. KEITH was a woman of remarkable energy; whatever she undertook to do was well and thoroughly done. Her mental perceptions were vivid, and she wrote with ease and fluency, as her correspondence, given in this volume, testifies. Her story must almost entirely be gathered from her letters, as the editor has confined himself to the briefest casual remarks, by way of connecting links of the narration. She thought for herself on most matters, and her religious history shows how ready she was to follow out the convictions of her mind. Feeble health did not abate her zeal for the cause to which she had consecrated her labors. Against that, and a sickly climate, she bore up to the last still past the reach of human aid, sustained by a sovereign sense of duty.

AMENITIES OF LITERATURE, CONSISTING OF SKETCHES AND CHARACTERS OF ENGLISH LITERATURE. By ISAAC DISRAELI. A new edition edited by his son, the Right Hon. B. DISRAELI. 2 vols., post. 8vo. New-York: HURD and HOUGHTON.

This elegant edition of DISRAELI'S last work appears in corresponding uniform style with the beautiful Riverside reprint of the Curiosities of Literature, and may be regarded as a supplement or companion to it. The task of composing a history of English vernacular literature was one that DISRAELI always regarded as of possible achievement, and the last years of his life were devoted to studies preliminary to its execution. But when the time for performance came, (as is feelingly related in the preface,) the eyesight of the veteran author failed, and he was indebted to the filial affection of a daughter for the appearance of the Amenities, which contain the fragments, more or less connected, of his great design. They include sketches of English authors and literature, discursively treated from the earliest periods to the time of the Commonwealth. Though only now before us in its present imperfect shape, it forms one of the best accounts we possess of early English literature in its connection with the national life and the influences that have made it what it is. Inferior in philological learning to Mr. MARSH, and in pains-taking accuracy to Professor CRAIK, the two last authors who have cultivated the same field of research, DISRAELI'S work is probably better adapted for popular use than either of the others. The views are broad, and the subjects are grouped together and treated with a wider range of thought and philosophy, that, if not very deep or original, gives a pleasant air of freshness to familiar topics. DISRAELI'S immense miscellaneous reading comes appropriately into play in the present work, supplying him with a vast variety of curious facts of literary and personal history that would escape the notice of historians more methodical and precise in their style of treatment. We hope the publishers will be encouraged by the reception of the "Amenities," to bring out the "Literary Character" and "Quarrels and Calamities of Authors," and thereby render complete their edition of the works of a writer who will always find readers, as long as a taste for literature remains extant among us.

THE POEMS AND BALLADS OF SCHILLER. Translated by Sir EDWARD BULWER LYTTON, Baronet. From the last London Edition. 18mo. New-York: CLARK & MAYNARD.

BULWER has been more fortunate when transfusing the poetry of another language into his own, than in any original poetical compositions. His translation of Schiller is now adopted as the standard one, and its popularity is attested by the appearance of this "elegant reprint—while his own poems, from the dismal "Siamese Twins, to King Arthur, The New Timon, and St. Stephens," have all but vanished from human knowledge. No pains have been spared by the translator in each new edition to bring the version into complete harmony with the original, and success has undoubtedly rewarded his trouble. The sense is given with great correctness, and though the untransferable curious felicity of diction of the German may be wanting the reader feels that one man of genius is interpreting another, and yields readily to his guidance.

Political Items.

—Returns from 222 towns in Vermont show the following vote on Governor:

Smith, (Union)	31,260
Redfield, (Dem.)	12,283
Union majority	18,977

Gov. SMITH had 16,877 majority in the same towns last year. Eighteen towns are yet to be heard from.

—The Missouri Democratic State ticket is as follows:

For Governor—THOMAS L. PRICE, of Cole County.
For Lieutenant-Governor—LUKE W. BURRIS, of Clay County.
For Auditor—CHARLES C. ROGERS, of St. Genevieve County.
For Secretary of State—JAMES MCFERRAN, of Davies County.
For Treasurer—GEORGE C. BINGHAM, of Jackson County.
For Register of Lands—WALTER P. BILLINGS, of Montgomery County.
For Attorney-General—ALEX. M. WOODFOLK, of Livingston.

Col. THOMAS C. FLETCHER is the Union candidate for Governor.

—Gen. MCCLELLAN was recently invited to visit the Sanitary Fair now in session at Kalamazoo, Michigan, but declined. He replied in a short letter which was read at the Fair on the 23d inst., on which day a vote was taken for President with the subjoined result:

For LINCOLN, 338; MCCLELLAN, 166; FREMONT, 1; JEFF. DAVIS, 1.

—A friend recently remarked to LEVI BISHOP, Democratic candidate for Attorney-General of Michigan, that "SHERMAN had got Atlanta." "Yes," was the response, "and NAPOLEON got Moscow!" That is the way the "Copperheads" of the West regard Union victories.

—Hon. AUSTIN A. KING and James H. BIRCH are rival Democratic candidates for Congress in the Sixth District of Missouri. The latter is the present Representative.

—A vote was recently taken on the Presidential question at the Michigan State Fair (Kalamazoo)—LINCOLN had 260 votes, MCCLELLAN 116, FREMONT 2, and Gen. LEE 1.

—Hons. DAVID TOD, D. S. DICKENSON, Senator SHERMAN, Major CUMBACK, and other prominent public men are speaking for the Union cause in Northern Ohio.

—The Union Convention for the nomination of a candidate to represent the Second District of New-Jersey in the next Congress, is to convene at Mount Holly on the 30th inst.

—I. V. DICKINSON, of Salem, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the First District of New-Jersey.

—The Copperhead papers of the West assert that President LINCOLN "draws his pay in gold." Of course there is no truth in the assertion.

—The Syracuse Democrat, which recently supported FREMONT & COCHRANE, now flies the Lincoln and Johnson banner.

—GILBERT B. MILLER is the Democratic candidate for Sheriff in Suffolk County.

—The Syracuse Democrat, recently a Fremont organ, has declared for LINCOLN and JOHNSON.

—Messrs. BIDWELL, HIGLY and MCKEUR are the Union nominees for Congress in California.

FRIDAY, Sept. 30—P. M.

The Gold Room and the Foreign Exchange are weak since our report on Thursday afternoon. The price of Gold fell off last night quite precipitately to 190¾@191 ℔ cent., and Bills on London to-day, Gold rates, are 105¾@108¾ ℔ cent., 60 days, which figures are below the terms on which shipments of American Gold coin can be made to a fair profit. In the Gold Room this forenoon the dealings were firmer at the opening than the lowest sales at Thursday's Evening Exchange, say at 194 ℔ cent. The price subsequently fell to 191½, and afterward rallied to 193¼, as against 196@196¼ yesterday afternoon. The comparatively lower ruling of Bills on London for to-morrow's mail excited some surprise in the forenoon. But at a later hour it was announced that a leading firm in the South American trade, who have been speculating heavily in options to receive Exchange through the Fall months at much higher figures, failed to-day in their September engagements, this being the last mail day for receiving and paying for the Bills. Of course this default throws a corresponding amount of Exchange unexpectedly on the market. The report is that the house in trouble is under heavy engagements for October and November. They are well known regular receivers of Coffee from Rio, and were not generally suspected of speculation in Gold and Exchange outside of their regular business.

The Stock Exchange on Railway list has been very favorable to-day and generally lower than on Thursday. The Bear interest inside the Exchange continues to preponderate, and the outside orders in the opposite direction make no impression on the market beyond the sphere of the Board at which they are filled. At 4 o'clock this afternoon there was some measure of steadiness on the list generally, and a fair demand for Reading and Erie. The Governments are a fraction lower to-day on the 5-20s and 6 ℔ cents. of 1981.

The new Gold Exchange will be opened on the corner of William and Beaver-streets, to-morrow, Saturday, October 1. The subscriptions to membership number about one hundred and thirty names and firms. The membership will have the control and regulation of this Exchange. Outside parties will be admitted to dealings within the Rooms, but through its members, at one-half the subscription price. Mr. JOHN BLOODGOOD, of the Stock-Exchange firm of STEBBINS & BLOODGOOD, No. 22 William-street, is first Chairman of the new Exchange.

The Boston Banks are gradually changing their organization to the National system. We have heretofore noticed the change in the old Merchants' Bank, with its leading capital of $3,000,000. The Bank of Mutual Redemption has more recently become a National concern, and its return of Loans, Deposits and Specie appears to be dropped from the weekly statement of the old Associated Banks under State organization. Nearly all the old Banks of Philadelphia will abandon their State organization for the National system on the 1st of November. Their shareholders are called together with a view to pass upon this alteration on the 20th of October, and we hear that there is very little doubt of their almost unanimous consent to it. It is not improbable that after the reelection of the present National Administration on the 8th of November, a number of our best New-York City Banks will adopt the same change.

Our correspondent, who complains of our way of quoting the rise and fall of Gold, is more captious than strictly correct. The par of Gold in the Currency recognized at the Stock Exchange and in the Gold Room is 100 ℔ cent., that is, dollar for dollar in Legal Tender, if the price in the market be greatly stimulated, and a subsequent fall takes place from 250 to 200 ℔ cent., the decline is 50 ℔ cent. in the parlance of the Exchange, and not 20 ℔ cent. from the higher figure. He is also wrong in assuming that we should quote Greenbacks as rising in place of Gold falling. Greenbacks are the Legal Tender of the land—the standard of business. Gold an article of merchandise for export for speculation until Specie payments are resumed upon the legal Tender. If exporters or speculators choose to pay 250 per cent for $100 in Gold, as they would pay 250 per cent on a $100 share of Delaware and Hudson, and the price in either case should fall to 200 per cent, as in both instances it has recently done, the usage of the Exchange and of the Street is to call the decline 50 per cent, as they would have called a rise to 300 per cent, an advance of 50 per cent on the previous ruling.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The latest news from Gen. GRANT is up to five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Yesterday morning Gen. WARREN advanced from his position on the Weldon Road and attacked the enemy's extreme right, carrying their line of works handsomely, with a number of prisoners. He immediately prepared to follow up his advantage. Gen. MEADE, according to the dispatch, also moved out another force from his left, and carried the rebel works near Poplar Grove Church, in the direction of the Danville road. Our forces on the North side of the James successfully hold all the ground they gained on Thursday. During yesterday afternoon the rebels assaulted our position near CHAPIN'S Farm, but were handsomely repulsed by Gen. BUTLER'S forces.

Gen. SHERMAN telegraphs that he has succeeded in exchanging 2,000 men belonging to his own army, and made arrangements with HOOD to send to the other prisoners a supply of clothing, soap, combs, &c.

The Secretary of War telegraphs that there is no later news from Gen. SHERIDAN than that announced yesterday, which placed his cavalry in occupation of Staunton on Monday last. The Orange and Alexandria Railroad to Manassas Junction, and the Manassas Gap Railroad to Staunton, are being repaired for Gen. SHERIDAN'S use.

The steamer Suwo Nada arrived here yesterday from New-Orleans, bringing among her passengers Major-Gen. BANKS and his personal staff, who have come North on a permanent visit. The military news by this arrival is not important.

FORREST, on the night of the 28th, was at Fayetteville, Tennessee, with nearly his whole force, en route to the Chattanooga Railroad. Part of the road was destroyed by a small body of rebels. Parties of rebel cavalry are scattered along the line of the railroad. An attack was apprehended at Duck and Elk River bridges. On the Tennessee and Alabama Railroad all the bridges between Athens and Pulaski, a distance of thirty miles, have been destroyed. Gen. ROUSSEAU was at Christiana Thursday night. During the night the telegraph wire was cut below that place. There was no communication south of Murfreesboro yesterday.

FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the Saxonia off Cape Race yesterday we have three days later intelligence from Europe. The news is not important. MULLER, the murderer of Mr. BRIGGS, who was apprehended in this City, had arrived in London, and was undergoing an examination. The London Times says that the capture of Atlanta is regarded as the crowning success of the South-western army. The rebel Loan fell three per cent on a report of the surrender of Mobile. A new Spanish ministry had been formed, who had announced a conciliatory policy. The demand of Denmark that the troops of the allied armies in Jutland are not to be pensioned by Denmark has been absolutely rejected by the German Powers.

GENERAL NEWS.

The St. Louis Union of the 28th says dispatches received at Headquarters from North Missouri report that our troops had a fight with TODD'S and THRAILKILL'S guerrillas on Sunday, the 25th, in which thirteen of the rebels were killed, including two captains, one of them named BISSELL, of Platte County. After the fight the guerrillas moved to Huntsville, and demanded the surrender of the town; but the militia under Col. DENNY defied them, and prepared for resistance; and the rebels, learning that Major KING, with reinforcements for the post, was close at hand, drew off, and moved to Middle Grove.

The Wheeling Intelligencer, of the 29th, says Gov. BOREMAN had advices yesterday to the effect that the rebel raiders hold both Buckhannon and Weston. He was also telegraphed that the raiders were in Barbour County, about 1,500 strong, and also that there were about half that strong in Upshur.

The cartel for exchange of naval prisoners provides for all on each side; the rebels give army prisoners for the excess on our hands, as well as for Admiral BUCHANNAN and others for whom they have none of equal rank. The first instalment, comprising forty officers and about one hundred and fifty men, were to leave Boston yesterday.

The Richmond Examiner states that the number of prisoners received in Richmond from May 1 to September 1, was 16,086, and that this does not include those taken from HUNTER in his Valley campaign, or from GRANT at Petersburgh before he took the Weldon Railroad. The Whig asserts that GILMORE and JAQUESS left Richmond without paying their hotel bill, and that it has just been paid by the rebel Secretary of War.

Mrs. Gen. LANDER, formerly Miss J. M. DAVENPORT, the accomplished and well-known actress, has decided to resume her profession next November.

The price of Gold was 3 per cent. cheaper yesterday than on Thursday. The Railway Shares left off steady, but at lower figures. Governments were also a fraction easier. Exchange on London 108¼@108¾ per cent. for Gold.

The Board of Councilmen met yesterday, and concurred with the Board of Aldermen in passing the Fulton-street Railroad over the Mayor's veto, and immediately adjourned to 2 P. M. on Monday.

Prices of produce and merchandise were generally lower and very irregular yesterday, with a light business in most articles, save in the instance of new mess pork, which was in lively speculative demand and higher. Freights were inactive.

What this Presidential Election is Worth.

There are those who think it a great misfortune that a Presidential election should take place in the midst of the war. They talk dismally about the country being racked by terrible political excitement, when civil war already imposes upon it as much as it can endure. On the contrary, we hold that the occurrence of the Presidential election at this stage of the war is most fortunate—that it is a signal vindication of the wisdom of our fathers in providing that this election should recur every four years, instead of the longer interval which was advocated, and which the Southern traitors afterward actually incorporated into their spurious Montgomery Constitution.

It is true that a Presidential election has always been the most violent and trying movement of our civil system. It is the least frequent, and, unlike any other, is not local in its scope, but simultaneously agitates every portion of the national fabric. It brings the most momentous political principles into direct collision, and kindles the most ardent popular passions. It is a movement which, by bringing into play so many diverse forces, is the least reducible to the calculations of political science. It is the one, too, which has been the least satisfactorily tested in the history of Republics. It is the inability to sustain this same experimentum crucis that made the French Republic and the Mexican Republic such complete failures, and that has made the history of the South American Republics a constant succession of civil wars. Nay, we may say that it was a Presidential election in our own Republic that was the occasion of this dread rebellion. We admit freely that had BUCHANAN continued in power constitutionally, there would as yet have been no rebellion. Slavery would have kept the peace. Nevertheless, it is a blessed fact that a Presidential election is inevitable in this Republic every four years, and that this year, 1864, is a year when we are to meet a new one. It saves the country from a Northern rebellion. It will give a mortal blow to the Southern rebellion. It will make all future rebellions impossible.

It is an undeniable fact that there is a party of faction here in the North, bound to the Southern rebellion in close sympathy. It is a party containing many deceived yet well-meaning men, but is mainly made up of the very worst elements of mischief, and is under the control of men who would shrink from nothing to secure their ends. It is a party whose daily promulgation is, that this Government, as now administered, is the worst despotism on the face of the earth. There could be no more revolutionary language; for, if the Government be that, of course it ought to be revolutionized. It is equally undeniable that there is within the pale of the party an organization extending through the West, and branching, it is believed, far into the East, comprising many thousands bound by oath to obey implicitly orders from its central authority, even if required to rise with arms in their hands against the Government. All that has kept this turbulent party, and this revolutionary organization quiet, during the military operations which are so rapidly deciding the fate of the rebellion, with which they have such sympathy, has been their belief that they could more effectually and safely carry their ends in peaceful fashion, through the ballot-box. They flatter themselves that there is a prospect of electing a President who will be their instrument; and so they quietly abide even the provocation of the new draft, when last year they made a draft of much smaller proportions an occasion of rushing to the very verge of general insurrection. Their candidate for President will not be elected. He will be defeated by a majority so tremendous that it will strike the whole party of faction and revolution with an absolute dismay. There are threats, we know, here and there by Copperhead spouters, and even Copperhead newspapers, that a further continuance of "the LINCOLN despotism" will in no event be submitted to. There is, in fact, virtually a threat of the same character in the third resolution of the Chicago Convention, which declares that a repetition of certain acts under President LINCOLN "will be held as revolutionary, and be resisted with all the means and power under their control." But we attach no importance to these outgivings. They will come to nothing. The sovereign will of the people, as pronounced in tones of thunder at the polls, backed by the trenchant loyalty of half a million of the most splendid soldiers of the world, will have a sovereign effect in soothing every revolutionary impulse. The election will reveal the patriotic spirit of the people as nothing else could. Its strength once exhibited, even the worst madman in the Copperhead party will not dream for an instant of defying it. The election will give the quietus to every disturbing element here in the North.

The election will be very effective, too, we believe, toward bringing to an end the actual rebellion in the South. Nothing has kept up the spirits of the Southern rebels for the last year but the idea that the popular sentiment of the North had turned against President LINCOLN and his war policy. Their Copperhead sympathizers here in the North so declared, and they believed it. The election enables the people to make an end of this delusion. The result in November will satisfy even the most credulous of the rebels that they have been most wretchedly imposed upon; and that Mr. LINCOLN, in his dealing with them, has only enforced the unalterable spirit and purpose of the vast majority of the Northern people. The moral effect of this demonstration must be prodigious. It will do more to demoralize the rebellion, than twenty National victories in the field. It is, in fact, our deliberate conviction, that it will take the heart out of the whole concern, and produce its quick and final collapse.

An ulterior effect, of inestimable account, will also come from this election, through the attestation it will afford to all future generations that there is stamina enough in the people to fight rebellion to any extremity rather than yield to it. We are now in the fourth year of the war. It is high time that the people should become so tired of it as to abandon it, if they could ever be brought to that mood. Their solemn expression now at the ballot-box of a determination to maintain the contest until the last remnant of the rebellion is crushed, will be such a proof of the national spirit of the people that it will stand as a perpetual warning. There will be no possible chance for a pretence that it was only the stubbornness of President LINCOLN, and of the Generals at his side, that carried the war through. It will be made manifest that the popular will is its prime motive force. The conclusion that will pass into history as a settled truth, must be that in this republic no rebellion can have any chance before the popular power. All future rebellions will be made impossible. And, what is almost as important, all threats of rebellion, which have heretofore been such a pest, will be made preposterous.

A Representative Man.

Whatever else he may, or may not be, Mayor GUNTHER is a "Democrat" in the party acceptation of the word. His orthodoxy has never been disputed or doubted. He is and always has been in good and regular standing. The party elected him, not so much on account of his splendid talents or of his brilliant personal qualities of any sort, as because he was known to be a genuine, unmistakable, unadulterated disciple of the modern Democracy. They have made him Mayor, and naturally enough he now feels bound to represent their principles, and carry out their views.

When the Common Council, therefore, yielded so far to outside pressure as to urge a public illumination on account of our victories, Mayor GUNTHER promptly squelched this unseemly departure from party principles, and gave these gentlemen to understand that he should tolerate no such proceedings. He believes in the Chicago platform,—and that standard of the faith does not allow rejoicings over victories in an unjust and unholy war.

The Mayor's exposition of this subject is so clear and compact a statement of the sentiments and purposes of his party, that it ought to be widely circulated, and universally read. The National Committee appointed at Chicago ought to issue it as a campaign document, and spread it broadcast over the country. They have been a little remiss, it is true, in not publishing their platform in this shape:—but they can make up for this by issuing the two together. Meantime we will give the Mayor's message the benefit of an additional insertion in our columns. Here it is:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, Sept. 29, 1864.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

GENTLEMEN: Your resolution of the 26th instant, appointing a "committee of five from each board, for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements to cause the various public buildings to be illuminated in honor of the recent victories on land and sea," is returned unapproved.

I might acquiesce in your response to an appeal of your fellow-citizens, who might desire to give an expression to their feelings respecting these victories, but I must decline to comply with your request to issue a proclamation to the citizens generally, to join in such an illumination, for various reasons, which I will briefly state:

1. If I should issue such a proclamation, there are many citizens who would be denounced as disloyal, if through want of opportunity or inclination, or of means, they failed to comply with the recommendation.

2. By those in authority, they are not claimed as Union victories, but as the result of the Emancipation Proclamation, and latest war measure of President LINCOLN, as announced in his "to whom it may concern" manifesto.

3. It is asserted that the new policy of the Administration will give us a succession of victories. If this is the case your honorable body will be called upon to illuminate every fortnight, and if the papers in the employ of the Administration, who daily parade "the defeat of the rebels," are to be believed, three times a week.

I yield to no man in my attachment to "the Union as it was, and the Constitution as it is," but as the President demands of the Southern people to abandon the rights which the Constitution confers, I do not see how those who have always held that the Federal Government has nothing to do with the domestic institutions of the States, can be expected to rejoice over victories which, whatever they may be, surely are not Union victories.

If those victories were to unite the States, and were a sure harbinger of peace, I would be pleased, if I could issue such a proclamation as would induce the poorest citizen to part with his last mite for the purchase of a single tallow candle to celebrate the event.

4. It has been the immemorial custom of mankind, in all ages and climes, to abstain from rejoicings over victories gained in civil wars, and such has been the practice thus far during the present strife, which has distracted our once happy Union. The only effect of departing from this usage, sanctioned alike by humanity and sound policy, will be to acknowledge, by such exhibitions, that these are victories over aliens and enemies, and that there is no hope of securing peace on the basis of the Federal Union. This hope, in common with a large portion of our fellow-citizens, I am not prepared to abandon.

You are aware that here is the essential difference between the two parties now contending for political mastery in the Northern States; one of these declares that no terms can be offered "except such as may be based upon an unconditional surrender" of the rights of the States, and the other maintains that "peace may be restored on the basis of the Federal Union."

Taking into consideration that a canvass is now in progress of the most exciting character, I am forced to regard the proposed demonstration as one of a political nature, and, according to the rule which I laid down for my guidance on entering upon the duties of Mayor, I cannot give it my official indorsement.

C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

There's the document! It sets forth more tersely and justly than anything else we have seen, the real temper and spirit of the party which demands "immediate efforts for a cessation of hostilities." The Mayor is afraid to rejoice over victories lest those who won't rejoice should be suspected of disloyalty. He is fearful, if we begin this business, we shall have to rejoice over fresh victories "three times a week!" And to cap the climax, these are not Union victories at all, but—something else. Will not Mayor GUNTHER bring his great intellectual powers to bear on the question once more and tell us what they are? They certainly are not rebel victories. They can scarcely be claimed as Democratic victories. If they are not Union victories, pray what are they?

We are sorry we cannot comfort the Mayor or his party with hopes of their "cessation." Their demand for a "cessation of hostilities" has not yet been indorsed by the American people, and until it is, we fear the Mayor's political reveries will continue to be disturbed by Union victories and public rejoicings.

The Grand Advance—The Cooperative Movements.

Of the sudden, rapid, bold and remarkable series of movements around Richmond, inaugurated by Gen. GRANT on Thursday morning, we know just enough to leave us in considerable bewilderment. To the dashing and unexpected movement on the north bank of the James, were yesterday added two other movements of equal or greater magnitude on other lines—making altogether three great, distinctive and simultaneous operations in progress upon the enemy's position—not to speak at all of the movement of Gen. SHERIDAN in the Shenandoah Valley. Yesterday morning Gen. WARREN, who has been for six weeks planted on the Weldon Road, about a couple of miles south of Petersburgh, and who formed the left wing of our army, attacked and carried the enemy's line on their extreme right, and, says GRANT, "immediately prepared to follow up his success." The third of the coöperative movements is under Gen. MEADE; and regarding this—perhaps the most important of all—the Lieutenant-General simply gives the following sentence: "Gen. MEADE moved from his left this morning, and carried the enemy's line near Poplar Grove Church." This sentence was probably not intended for the popular eye, and neither in its grammar nor its topography is it very easily defined. But we suppose the pronoun his refers to Warren's "left," and that from the latter's position on the Weldon road MEADE struck in a northerly direction for the railroad running from Petersburgh to Burksville Junction, and thence diverging to Danville and to Lynchburgh. GRANT says that MEADE "carried the enemy's line near Poplar Grove Church," and we find "Poplar Grove" where we should suppose the Church ought to be, indicated in our map on the above mentioned railroad, and located only about fifteen miles from WARREN'S position, or left, on the Weldon road. GRANT'S dispatch is dated at half-past three yesterday afternoon, and MEADE might have made this fifteen-miles march between the time he started in the morning and that hour. This would undoubtedly be a bold and perilous march and movement, and we shall wait further advices before endeavoring to clear up the entanglement. The operation, however, has long been anticipated by strategists, and it is one that, according to what is understood to be GRANT'S programme, is essential.

In the meantime, the force on the north bank of the James was attacked by the rebels yesterday, in three columns, but they were repulsed. The importance of this body as a coöperative force is very great. Our Washington correspondent remarks that GRANT has twice before attempted an effective operation on the north bank of the James, but in each case has been foiled. The object aimed at in each instance was the possession of the commanding heights at Chapin's Farm, nearly opposite Fort Darling, which is on the south side of the river. The heights are within shelling distance of the Fort, and we may now hope to see it eliminated from the problem of Richmond. This done, the left of this wing can be thrown across the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad, which will at once isolate Lee's army at Petersburgh, and cut off the supplies for the rebel Capital quite as effectually.

Each of these grand combined operations of GRANT against Richmond is, as yet, in its incipient stage, and we can but await with profound interest and devout hope the progress and consummation of this marvelous campaign.

England and America.

The picture of the condition and prospects of the United States on which a portion of the English is now fondly dwelling, as revealed to us by the latest European mails, furnishes some very profitable matter for reflection to all Americans. We believe all our readers are aware, by this time, that the ruling classes in England have been from the outset as anxious for the disruption of the Union as any men could be, who were not actually engaged in a conflict with us. They desired it for several reasons, none of which they have had any hesitation in avowing. They feared that this Republic was becoming so vast and powerful that its existence would upset what is called "the balance of power," the creation and preservation of which, have taxed the resources of all European nations during the last three centuries. They feared, too, that the continued success of the experiment of democratic government in this country, would give immense impetus and support to the democratic movement in Europe, which, in the opinion of most observers on the other side of the water, threatens, in a generation or two, the complete destruction of all the existing aristocracies, and the resolution of all European Governments into democratic despotisms like that of France. To this tendency the Southern rebellion has been considered likely to give a most decided check, as it has been made in support of thoroughly oligarchic ideas, and in direct opposition to the government of majorities, and to the prevailing idea of human equality. We were clearly mistaken at the outset of the war in attributing so much of the English hostility to us to the effect which the war was likely to have on the cotton supply. That, after all, only affected the manufacturers and mechanics. "Good society" in London, was influenced by considerations of wider range.

With these feelings about us, it may be readily imagined with what joy the movements of the copperheads are viewed in London. The prospect of their success is hailed in the Times, Post, and Herald, as the triumph of the Confederacy. They indulge in none of the pleasing delusions which the Peace faction propagate here as to McCLELLAN'S military value. "The expression of the principles" ("that the policy of the war has been mistaken and hopeless,") "has been entrusted," says the London Times, "not to a successful or triumphant soldier, but to the General who was the first to discover the impracticability of the object on which his countrymen were bent." The armistice which the Chicago platform calls for, the same journal considers certain to take place, because it looks on the Copperhead party as "the preponderating party in the country," and into this armistice it is sure the South will never enter without a stipulation for the recognition of its independence, for the following reasons:

"In that event, will the South enter the Convention of the States without a stipulation expressed or reserved, for the recognition of its national independence? It seems almost impossible to think so; for, in that case the South would be simply surrendering all it has fought for at the very moment when success appeared most sure. On condition of reëntering the Union the Confederates might have dictated their own terms in the very first year of the war. . . . If the Confederates refused such terms when threatened with the untried power of the North, how can they accept them when, by the confession of the Northerners themselves, that power has been tried in vain? The Federals have failed in their endeavors to coerce the Confederates into reunion, and they have acknowledged their failure. The Confederates have fought heroically for their national independence, and have proved their ability to maintain it. On what grounds, therefore, or with what expectations of success can they now be asked to yield what they have been fighting for, to the very men who have been unable to wrest it from them?"

There is not the slightest doubt that the Copperheads thoroughly concur in the foregoing, but the difference between them and the London Times is, that they are obliged to conceal their real sentiments in order to carry the election, while the Times is laboring under no such disability. The picture which the same journal draws of the consequences which are to follow McCLELLAN'S election is delightful—in the foreground peace and disunion, in the distance repudiation of the national debt.

In other words, we shall present to Europe, under the reign of "Little MAC," a spectacle which will send a thrill of joy through every drawing-room in Belgravia—that of a dismembered republic, governed by an unsuccessful soldier, and unable and unwilling to pay debts solemnly contracted, contemplating the results of our folly in sackcloth and ashes, stricken with a plague bred by our own moral pollution and intellectual weakness. The eagerness with which a portion of the European press watches every symptom of repudiation, and the delight with which it hails it, is as shocking an exhibition of hatred, as has been witnessed in modern times, among civilized nations.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The sale of tickets for the opening night on Monday next goes on—in spite of the bad weather—with unprecedented velocity. Yesterday there were but four seats left in the sections reserved for the Fourteenth-street customers. Mr. MARETZEK'S down-town reserves are pressed in the same way, and he will have to call them in, in order to keep open his communications with the public. About the first night's house, there is no longer a doubt. It will be thoroughly fashionable and full. Certainty is not one of the attributes of operatic management, but it seems almost certain that the forthcoming season will be the brightest and most remunerative on record. The principal boxes and the choicest seats have nearly all been disposed of for the season, and we think we are right in saying that no Manager of late has opened with prospects so flattering, or a subscription list so long.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Of all the old comedies, GOLDSMITH'S "She Stoops to Conquer," is decidedly the most agreeable. It is singularly free from the viciousness of the period in which it was written, and is so admirably constructed that not a single thread of the story is left loose. The performance of this justly esteemed work, is always hailed with pleasure by the patrons of WALLACK'S Theatre. We have never seen the pleasure more heartily expressed than it was last evening, and we may add that the approbation was thoroughly justified by the complete excellence o the performance. The cast was essentially the same as last season, with the single exception that Miss MARY GANNON sustained the rôle of Miss Hardcastle, instead of Mrs. HOEY—a lady whose name always suggests a regret. Miss GANNON is familiar with the part, and plays it with admirable coquetry and grace. The remaining characters were intrusted to the very efficient members of the company, and received the best of attention. Mr. GEORGE HOLLAND, who made his rentrée on this occasion, was excellent as Tony Lumpkins. He was received with a heartiness which we hope always to see extended to a veteran, reliable and admirable actor.

Letter from Gen. Sickles.

NEW-YORK, Thursday, Sept. 29, 1864.

DEAR SIR: Your inquiry made on behalf of several members of the Union Congressional Convention for the Ninth District, whether I would accept a nomination for Congress, has received the respectful attention due to the patriotic source from which the suggestion emanated. In declining the use of my name as a candidate for this high trust, I only adhere to a resolution formed when I entered the military service to retire altogether from politics while holding a commission in the army. This determination, with other considerations, had already constrained me, during the present canvass, to decline a similar request made by a number of my old and esteemed constituents in the Fourth District, who desired to present my name to the Democratic Convention. I yield to no citizen or soldier in my solicitude for the honorable termination of the war. The war was deliberately begun by the rebels and is persistently waged by them to divide and conquer the Union. It is so strange that our enemies should find allies among European antagonists of free institutions, but it will never cease to be a matter of humiliation and wonder that our own people could be seriously divided upon the question of submission or resistance. Let who will be for submission, I am for resistance as long as we have a battalion and a battle-field left.

Until the Constitution and Laws are vindicated in their supremacy throughout the land, the Government should be confided to no hands that will hesitate to employ all the power of the nation to put down rebellion. The resources of the insurgents are already so far exhausted that they will give up the struggle as soon as a majority of the people at the ballot-box, seconding the martial summons of FARRAGUT and GRANT, demand the unconditional surrender of the enemy.

Peace, so won, through the noble aspirations of the people, will exalt the national character, and challenge the homage of all who honor patriotism and valor. Peace, imposed upon us by an audacious and arrogant foe, who would owe his triumph not to the superiority of his arms, but to a degenerate population, unworthy of their lineage and forgetful of their traditions, could only last until the contempt of mankind evoked from our shame enough manhood to renew the struggle.

Very respectfully,
DANIEL E. SICKLES,
Major-General.

HOMER FRANKLIN, Esq.

Dispatches to the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Friday, Sept. 30.

A circular has just been issued from the Adjutant-General's office, substituting the following regulations for those heretofore existing.

First—Hereafter, when a commissioned officer of a three years' volunteer organization receives a new commission, or an enlisted man is appointed to a commission, he may at his option be mustered into the United States service for three years or the unexpired term of the organization of which he may at the time be a member; provided no officer or enlisted man so receiving a commission shall be mustered in for a less period than three years, if at the date he presents himself for muster under it he has then six months to serve.

Second—All regimental officers of volunteers now in the service of the United States who have been in service three years, and all who shall hereafter have served three years, may, if they so desire, be mustered out and honorably discharged on satisfactory proof being furnished to the Commanding General that they have so served; provided, said officers have not meanwhile voluntarily been remustered for three years, or, if belonging to veteran organizations, signified in writing their willingness to serve for the new term of the organization to which they belong.

Third—Regulations similar to the foregoing will apply to organizations mustered into service for a less period than three years.

Fourth—If the officers of veteran organizations do not desire to secure the advantages of their former commissions and rank as contemplated by section 2, paragraph 1, Circular No. 36, Current Series, they can decline to be remustered, as therein directed, and take advantage of the provisions of paragraphs first and second of this circular, in so far as they may be applicable.

Fifth—When the regiment, company or other command of a regimental officer is mustered out, it must be distinctly understood that the officer will be considered mustered out therewith, and at the same time and place as the command. An officer will be held to service for the full term of his muster only when the regulation command is retained in service for him.

THE SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

The subscriptions to the 7-30 loan for the last two days amount to about a million and a half dollars.

A BASE OF SUPPLIES FOR SHERIDAN.

The Orange and Alexandria and Manassas Railroad is to be repaired and put in running order to Strasburgh. A large force of workmen, protected by an ample military guard, has been sent out for this purpose. The work will be pushed forward with the utmost possible dispatch in view of the operations of our armies.

A BLOCKADE-RUNNER DESTROYED.

Acting-Master KENDALL, commanding United States steamer Nyphon, writing to the Navy Department, from off New Inlet, N. C., under date of Sept. 26, reports that on the 25th he discovered a long steamer painted white, with two smoke-stacks and two masts, coming out of Swash Channel. He immediately gave chase and fired several broadsides at her, nearly every shot of which took effect. The Nyphon attempted to run down the blockade-runner, but was unable to do so, and owing to her superior speed, she escaped. Another United States vessel overhauled her, however, and chased her aground off Half-Moon Battery, where she was set on fire by her crew, and destroyed. The name of the blockade-runner was not ascertained.

THE KINGS COUNTY REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.—The first convention after the primary meetings met in the Town of Flatlands yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The convention was organized by the election of Hon. GEORGE HALL, as President, and Mr. C. W. THOMAS, Jr., as Secretary. After admitting the delegates, which occupied a long time, an informal vote for Register was taken. Five informal ballots were then had, and on the last the vote stood as follows: Whole number of votes, 126; Benj. R. Wilson, 60; Joseph Reeves, 56, Mr. Wilson was declared the nominee by a unanimous vote. The nominations for County Clerk, Superintendent of the Poor, Coroner and Justice of the Sessions was then entered into. The result for County Clerk was as follows: George J. Hardy, 64; Henry Hill, 30; J. J. Anderson, 7; P. J. Ostrander, 24. Mr. Hardy having received a majority of the votes cast, was declared unanimously nominated. Mr. Isaac Skidmore was nominated as Superintendent of the Poor. The Coroner and Justice of Sessions had not been settled at a late hour.

NEW-YORK AND NEW-ORLEANS MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY—ANOTHER NEW STEAMER FOR THE LINE.—The New-York and New-Orleans Mail Steamship Company have just added another new and powerful steamer to their line, namely, the Guiding Star. The Guiding Star was built at the yards of Messrs. ROSEVELT & Co., foot of Houston-street, East River; and these builders have on the stocks the fifth vessel building by them for the same company and same line, which will be called the Day Star. The Guiding Star will make her trial trip next week, and will proceed on her first voyage on the 15th of October. She is a beautiful model, and is 250 feet long. Her measurement is 2,416 tons. She will be fixed up in good style for the accommodation of passengers, and her interior and deck compartments will be well furnished. All the vessels connected with this line will in future leave New-York weekly, as will be seen by advertisement.

The doings of the Convention will be looked for with considerable interest by politicians as well as others.

A LADY OF WORLD-WIDE REPUTATION.
Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer and Zylobalsamum or World's Hair Dressing are unequalled, and so acknowledged by all who use them for restoring, invigorating, beautifying and dressing the hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position; quickly cleansing the scalp, arresting the fall and imparting a healthy and natural color to the hair. They never fail to restore grey hair to its original youthful color. They act directly upon the roots of the hair, giving them the natural nourishment required. No lady's toilet is complete without the Zylobalsamum or Hair Dressing. It cleanses the hair and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance, and is suited to both young and old.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN.

The Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that subscriptions will be received for Coupon Treasury Notes payable three years from Aug. 15, 1864, with semi-annual interest at the rate of seven and three-tenths per cent. per annum,—principal and interest both to be paid in lawful money.

These notes will be convertible at the option of the holder at maturity, into six per cent. gold-bearing bonds, payable not less than five nor more than twenty years from their date, as the Government may elect. They will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000, and all subscriptions must be for fifty dollars, or some multiple of fifty dollars.

As the notes draw interest from August 15, persons making deposits subsequent to that date must pay the interest accrued from date of note to date of deposit.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES OF THIS LOAN.

IT IS A NATIONAL SAVINGS BANK, offering a higher rate of interest than any other, and the best security. Any savings bank which pays its depositors in United States notes considers that it is paying in the best circulating medium of the country, and it cannot pay in anything better, for its own assets are either in Government securities or in notes or bonds payable in Government paper.

CONVERTIBLE INTO A SIX PER CENT. 5-20 GOLD BOND.

In addition to the very liberal interest on the notes for three years, this privilege of conversion is now worth about three per cent. per annum, for the current rate for 5-20 Bonds is not less than nine per cent. premium, and before the war the premium on six per cent. U. S. Stocks was over twenty per cent. It will be seen that the actual profit on this loan, at the present market rate, is not less than ten per cent. per annum.

ITS EXEMPTION FROM STATE OR MUNICIPAL TAXATION.

But aside from all the advantages we have enumerated, a special act of Congress exempts all bonds and Treasury notes from local taxation. On the average, this exemption is worth about two per cent. per annum, according to the rate of taxation in various parts of the country.

It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as those issued by the Government. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties, or stock companies, or separate communities, only is pledged for payment, while the whole property of the country is held to secure the discharge of all the obligations of the United States. Up to the 24th of September, the subscriptions to this loan amounted to over

FATALITY OF CONSUMPTION.
In some parts of the country, nearly one-fourth of the population is destroyed by Consumption and other diseases of the respiratory organs. Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has been more successful than any other man in the United States, in treating this class of diseases. He has proved, by numerous examples, that Consumption is curable, all professional opinions to the contrary notwithstanding. Dr. Schenck, himself, more than thirty years ago was cured of consumption in its worst form, and in its most desperate stage. The medicine used by him, which is now celebrated under the name of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, has cured many others in cases which baffled the skill of eminent physicians. Dr. S. now uses two auxiliary remedies, called "SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC," and "SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS," which facilitate the cure when pulmonary disease is complicated with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, as it very often is. In some cases the Pulmonary Syrup alone is sufficient. In other circumstances, one or the other of the auxiliary remedies will be needed. The directions which accompany each medicine instruct the patient how to distinguish by the symptoms the precise nature of his disease, so that the proper remedy may be used. The Pulmonic Syrup is always required in the treatment of Consumption. The other two remedies, one or both, must be used according to circumstances. If these three remedies are used in time, and used strictly according to the directions, Dr. Schenck insures a cure, provided the lungs are not too much decayed to afford any chance of the patient's recovery.
For sale by DEMAS BARNES, No. 21 Park-row, New-York, General Agent for all of Dr. Schenck's Medicines, and Druggists generally.
Dr. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms, No. 32 Bond-st., New-York, EVERY TUESDAY, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. His medicine can be obtained there at all times.

MATHEWS'
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS.
Sages have written and Poets have sung of that crowning ornament of the human race, beautiful and luxuriant Hair. Scientific men have studied and experimented on the means necessary for its Preservation, and Artists for modes of Beautifying and Adorning.
Viewing a healthy and luxurious growth of the Hair, as the first and most desirable ornament in beautifying the face and form of either sex, it is a matter of great importance to know the causes which impair its BEAUTY, and the proper means necessary for its PRESERVATION.
A FACT.
It is but a few years since it became generally known that ARNICA possessed the property of subduing inflammation, and restoring a healthy action beyond any substance previously known or used. Yet so great are its merits that it has become a NECESSITY in almost every household, and a component part of nearly every liniment or embrocation used for external injuries or inflammation.
A QUESTION.
If ARNICA will subdue inflammation and restore a healthy action upon the surface of the body and limbs, why will it not do the same upon the scalp, and thereby remove scruff and dandruff, stop the hair falling or turning gray, which is caused by nothing so much as a sort of feverishness or inflammation of the scalp?
MORE FACTS.
A few years ago Mr. MATHEWS, a druggist by profession, suffered severely from an irritation of the scalp, with constant itching and an accumulation of dandruff, to cure which he tried thoroughly every popular hair preparation then in the market, but all without any permanent benefit. Knowing the virtues of ARNICA in curing inflammation, he made a preparation of it, with other articles of known value, and gave that a trial, which very soon permanently cured the trouble. The same preparation under the title of
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS,
Has been extensively used in all manner of scalp diseases with a like beneficial result.
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS
Stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out, restores it when lost, promotes its growth and strength, renders it proof against all diseases.
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS
Permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS,
Is unequaled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous, disposing it to remain in place without being "gummy or sticky."
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS
Is an indispensable adjunct to the toilet. Its perfume is especially sweet and fragrant—the proprietor having, in this respect, conquered the "golden mien."
Ladies should use the
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS.
It will stimulate and invigorate the hair, prevent it from falling out, restore it when lost. It will make it soft as satin and glossy as a raven's wing.
Gentlemen should use the
ARNICA HAIR GLOSS.
It answers every purpose of oil and pomatum, and yet leaves the hair clear and free, so that it will neither soil the hat, nor give to the head the appearance of a recently used "mop."
MATHEWS' ARNICA HAIR GLOSS
Is particularly adapted for children. It drives away all scalp diseases, excites the roots of the hair to healthy action, keeps it constantly invigorated, and makes it perfectly soft and glossy.

A full and complete list of their captures, with the disposition made of them by Semmes, together with reports, speeches and transactions concerning their history in each port, is found in the Appendix.

A CANDID STATEMENT.
You can procure of any druggist in this City and vicinity, Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT. It is a safe and speedy cure for sore throat, headache, toothache, chronic rheumatism, colic, croup and pains in the limbs. We advise every one to give it a trial. The expense is a mere trifle—35 cents—and we are confident no person will ever be without it. Every family should have a bottle in the house in case of sudden accidents, such as cuts, burns, scalds, &c. Its pain-relieving qualities are miraculous. As for croup, it has saved hundreds; we have the certificates to prove it. Office No. 56 Cortlandt-st., New-York.

NEW BOOKS.
Published this day by SCRIBNER, No. 124 Grand-st., New-York.
I.
RELIGION AND CHEMISTRY!
Or, Proofs of God's Plan in the Atmosphere and its Elements. By Prof. Josiah P. Cook, Jr. Printed on tinted paper at the Cambridge Press. 1 vol., octavo. $3 50.
The aim of the work is to illustrate, in a popular way, the adaptations of our atmosphere and its constituents in the general scheme of creation, and to show that the great argument of natural theology, as well from special adaptations as from a general plan, may be based wholly on the properties of lifeless matter, thus answering all objections which rest on recent theories or organic development.
II.
MODERN PHILOLOGY!
Its Discovery, History and Influence. By Benjamin W. Dwight. 1 vol., octavo. $3 50.
It presents in a thorough and comprehensive manner the discoveries of the New Philology, in respect to Latin, Greek, and especially English words, many thousands of which are here placed for the first time in their analytic and mutually explanatory connections.
Also, a NEW EDITION OF FIRST SERIES OF MR. DWIGHT'S WORK. Uniform with the second series, making the work complete in 2 vols., octavo. Price $6.
Copies sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price.
From the Bookseller (a London monthly), England.—"This volume is written in plain, intelligible, and unpretending language, and is the production, evidently, of a man of very considerable learning, unremitting diligence, and large and discriminating powers of research. It is destined, if we mistake not, to enjoy the comparatively rare merit of being at once the text-book of the student and the hand-book of the philosopher."
Also, just ready,
I.
BY PRESIDENT WOOLSEY.
INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.
Designed as an aid in teaching and in historical studies. By T. D. WOOLSEY, LL. D. In 1 vol., octavo, $3 50.
The work has an historical rather than a legal cast, and was intended, as its title indicates, for the student of history and of civilization. It is, however, a complete exhibition of the science, and on some points, as the laws and usages of war, fuller than the treatises designed expressly for the lawyer and statesman.
It touches very fully on some points of the science which the present war has brought up.
II.
ANCIENT LAW.
Its connection with the early History of Society, and its relation to modern ideas. By HENRY SUMNER MAINE, with an Introduction by THEODORE W. DWIGHT. 1 vol., 8vo. $3 50.

THE EXCELSIOR PETROLEUM COMPANY.
The Excelsior Petroleum Company is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New-York, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares, of the par value of $5 each, the shareholders of which are exempted from all personal liability.
The property of this Company consists of Petroleum Oil lands, in fee simple (located in the county of Venango, State of Pennsylvania) together with sundry leases of oil wells, which are for the most part actually producing at the present time.
The different properties have been selected with great care by competent judges. The interests (now developed) are producing $650 a day, or 4 per cent. per month on amount of capital.
The future prospects of this Company, on the further development of the property now in its possession, are incalculable. It is confidently expected that a dividend of 10 per cent. a month can be readily declared, when the several wells are finished that are now rapidly approaching completion, on territory which has never yet failed of production.
The books are now opened for subscribers at the offices of Messrs. TUCKER & CO., No. 44 Wall-st.; Messrs. WING & EVANS, No. 74 Beaver-street (cor. Hanover); Messrs. J. C. DAYTON & CO., No. 107 Front-st., and WM. A. FOWLER, Esq., No. 1 Broadway.

At San Juan an earthquake was felt on the 6th inst.

Lieut.-Col. GARCIA OROZCO and Lieut. LOPEZ had died of yellow fever at Santo Domingo.

The famine at the Cape de Verde Islands continues. In Santiago, the largest one of them, which a year ago counted 55,000 inhabitants, there were lost by starvation, between Jan. 1 and May 1, 7,000. The Government of Portugal has distributed $75,000 for the relief of the people, but this is not sufficient to allay their sufferings.

Dates from the Canary Islands are to the 31st ult. A light was to be lit in the light-house on Anaga Point, Teneriffe, on Sept. 15.

Dates from Honduras are to the 14th of August, but the news is unimportant.

Yesterday the rebel steamers Susanna and Denbigh left for Galveston.

The steamer Henrietta arrived here yesterday under the name of "Josie," 14 days from New-York. She stopped on the way at Green Turtle Key, where she left a portion of her cargo. She is consigned to J. DENYER & Co., well known shippers of goods to the rebels.

The well known hotel of Mrs. ALMY was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is heavy, as unfortunately her furniture was not insured. The total loss is estimated at $25,000.

There was another fire this morning, and, in fact, fires have been frequent of late.

The yellow fever in Cuba is disappearing.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

Return of Major-Gen. Banks—His Successor at New-Orleans.

The United States mail steamship Suwo Nada arrived at this port from New-Orleans yesterday morning, with advices to the 24th. Among her passengers was Maj.-Gen. BANKS, who, for nearly three years, has been in command of the Department of the Gulf.

The evening previous to the departure of Gen. BANKS a number of his friends, including several members elect of the new Legislature, called upon him at his residence to bid him farewell. The health of the Governor being offered and drank with full bumpers, Gov. HAHN responded in a few remarks, in which he alluded in feeling terms to the departure of Gen. BANKS.

GEN. BANKS' SUCCESSOR.

Major-General STEPHEN A. HURLBUT, who succeeds Gen. BANKS, is a native of South Carolina, where he read law in the office of JAMES T. PETTIGREW. His first military experience was as Adjutant of a South Carolina regiment in the Florida war. In 1845 Gen. HURLBUT removed to Illinois, where he practiced law, and also did good service for the State in the Constitutional Convention of 1847, and in the Legislature. In May, 1861, he was appointed Brigadier-General, and commanded the post of Fort Donelson after its capture by the Union army. He was then appointed to the command of the Fourth Division of GRANT'S army, which was the first to ascend the Tennessee River, and which first occupied Pittsburgh Landing. At the battle of Shiloh (or Pittsburgh Landing) Gen. HURLBUT distinguished himself for undaunted coolness and courage, and for his valuable services in this battle he was appointed by the President a Major-General. He also distinguished himself at the battle of the Hatchie. For a long time Gen. HURLBUT commanded the Sixteenth Corps and the Military District of Memphis, with headquarters at that city. Here he remained until he was relieved by Gen. WASHBURN and sent to New Orleans. As a true patriot and faithful soldier no man in the country can show a better record.

THE GREAT FIRE IN BATON ROUGE.

Correspondence of the Picayune.

BATON ROUGE, Wednesday, Sept. 21, 1864.

The most destructive fire that ever took place in this city (save the State-house) took place this morning.

The fire alarm of the Washington Fire Company No. 1, sounded its melancholy notes about 7 o'clock this morning, when we hastened to the scene. Fire Company No. 2, under the direction of Mr. J. C. CHARROTTE, was also promptly on the spot, but unfortunately, the water tanks could not be opened until the fire had taken a fearful hold upon the large frame furniture factory of PIPER & BRADFORD. Both engines, however, were soon at play, and did good execution. Mr. J. PIPER is a severe sufferer, Messrs. PIPER & BRADFORD, Mme. BOBY, LOUIS BRAHILL, and Mr. FRED FUNK, owned the principal house property destroyed. Mrs. MICHAEL, PIPER & BRADFORD, Messrs. WM. L. THOMAS & Co., R. COUSTAY, baker, and Mr. CHRISTIAN, confectioner, occupants of property, are severe losers. The stabling, sheds and fencing of Messrs. NELSON & KELLY were razed to the ground, to save the further spread of the devasting element. The loss amounted to considerable.

Gens. HERRON and LEE were promptly at the scene of destruction, and by their cool and deliberate superintendence, caused much property to be saved from loss. About fifteen families, however, are homeless.

Gov. Banks on Reconstruction in Louisiana.

We find in the New Orleans papers of the 24th inst. a long letter from Gen. BANKS, addressed to Senator LANE of Kansas, on the subject of reconstruction in Louisiana. Gen. BANKS alludes briefly to the protest of Messrs WADE and DAVIS against President LINCOLN'S refusal to sign the bill for the reconstruction of government in seceding States, and says it was perfectly apparent that its authors but imperfectly understood the condition of things, and had been misled by their informant. He then shows that the provisions of the bill had been complied with, in every essential particular, in the attempts to reconstruct a loyal government in Louisiana. He says:

The white male citizens as described in the bill, were enrolled for military service to the number of ——— thousand in the most populous parishes, preparatory to draft in 1863. Measures have been taken to renew and complete the enrollment in all the parishes.

Every person enrolled who has taken the oath, has been invited to participate in the election of delegates to a Constitutional Convention.

Nine thousand nine hundred and fourteen loyal voters have been registered under the iron-clad oath in the Parish of Orleans alone, and there are from 15,000 to 18,000 voters registered in the State as subscribers to the same oath on the parish poll-books.

Delegates to the convention were apportioned to "the white male population," not of enrolled electors merely, but of the whole State; and the number fixed as prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the State, "applicable to legislative assemblies."

Thirty days' notice was given of elections.

Commissioners of Elections have been appointed "according to the laws and usages of the State."

The delegates were chosen by "white male citizens of the United States," twenty-one years of age, who had "the qualifications required by law."

Soldiers who had enlisted in the army from this State were permitted to vote at the polls opened at their respective commands by regularly appointed Commissioners of Election, not by officers, where it was impossible for them to vote in established legal precincts.

So far as it is known, no person who has held office under the Confederate Government, or who has borne arms against the United States, has participated in these elections.

The oath of allegiance prescribed by the act of Congress of 1862, not the "iron-clad" oath of the President's proclamation of Dec. 8, 1863, have been administered to every voter. In most cases both have been administered.

The poll books at all elective precincts have been, or will be, deposited with the Provisional Governor of the State.

The Constitution declares the abolition of Slavery, prohibits involuntary servitude except for crime, and interdicts forever the recognition of property in man. It makes all men equal before the law. It declares that no liability, either State, parochial or municipal, shall exist for any debt contracted for on the interest of the rebels against the Government of the United States.

The only provision of the bill not embodied in the Constitution is that which denies the elective franchise to men who have borne arms against the United States. The convention would have readily adopted this provision; but, although the State under the Constitution establishes the conditions of suffrage even for members of Congress, it was impracticable for Louisiana to overthrow the policy of the General Government in this respect. The principal officer of the Treasury in New-Orleans held a commission in the rebel army, and the quartermaster and the chiefs of other departments have been ordered to employ in public service deserters from the enemy. A State cannot well deny the right of suffrage to high and permanent civil officers of the Government. The general policy on this subject ought to be established by the Government, without regard to the action of separate States. It is a question incident to peace and war.

Gen. BANKS proceeds to consider the conditions under which a State can be created or admitted into the Union, and to show that the loyal portion of Louisiana comprises much more than half the territory and population of that State. In connection with this, he states

THE RESULTS OF THE CONVENTION.

In a State which held 331,726 slaves, one half of its entire population in 1860, more than three-quarters of whom had been specially excepted from the Proclamation of Emancipation, and were still held de jure in bondage, the Convention declared by a majority of all the votes to which the State would have been entitled if every delegate had been present from every district in the State.

Instantaneous, universal, uncompensated, unconditional emancipation of slaves!

It prohibited forever the recognition of property in man!

It decreed the education of all the children, without distinction of race or color!

It directs all men, white or black, to be enrolled as soldiers for the public defence!

It makes all men equal before the law!

It compels, by its regenerating spirit, the ultimate recognition of all the rights which National authority can confer upon an oppressed race!

It wisely recognizes for the first time in constitutional history, the interest of daily labor as an element of power entitled to the protection of the State.

Death of Thomas F. Marshall.

From the Louisville Journal, Sept. 28.

Hon. THOMAS F. MARSHAL died on the 22d inst. at his residence, near Versailles, Woodford County, Ky., aged, we think, about 64 years.

Mr. MARSHALL'S name is a familiar thing throughout the nation. He was a wild and wayward man of talent and genius. In his youth he was a steady and most earnest student, devoting himself to the various branches of a classical education and disciplining his his mental powers with extraordinary diligence and success by way of preparation for the grand arena of life, where intellect encounters intellect and mind grapples with mind. Men who heard him speak at the age of twenty had no doubt that he would live, if spared by Providence, to be one of the master-spirits of the country. And, had he been true and just to himself and to the high and noble faculties vouchsafed to him by God, he would have fulfilled all the loftiest expectations entertained of him. But he met in early manhood with a keen and bitter disappointment, which, deeply stinging his sensitive, impatient and proud nature, and blasting, as by a flash of lightning, what he regarded as his great life-hope, caused him to seek relief by quaffing at the poison-fount at which millions of gifted spirits have bowed and died.

But THOMAS F. MARSHALL'S spirit did not perish. His genius was like Greek fire, nothing could quench it. Though he never wholly overcame for any great length of time, even by his most resolute and determined efforts, his one unfortunate habit, he became a very distinguished man. He pursued the practice of law in this city for several years, commencing perhaps in 1831, but with only partial success, his irregularities being an obstacle that even his great abilities could not wholly surmount. It was chiefly as a political speaker that he distinguished himself here, and unquestionably he reigned without a rival. Every man who lived here then and still survives has a vivid and glowing remembrance of his displays of power. Men think of him and muse upon him as he appeared to them in the long past, and they fancy themselves gazing upon a brighter star seen through a golden haze. He was sent by this city to the State Legislature, we think in 1834, and in that body he made many speeches, some of which would have been regarded as great and remarkable in any deliberative or other assemblage in the world. Some years after he went from the Ashland District to Congress, and, by his brilliant though erratic displays in that body, he attracted the attention of the country, and, although he probably failed, from personal and political aberrations, to exercise any very great influence, he at least commended universal admiration, mingled in most instances with respect that such noble intellectual energies as he possessed should not make their eagle home on high, pure air of truth and patriotism and statesmanship, instead of stooping so often among the black fogs and the reeking fens of reckless and even narrow partizanship.

We never in our lives listened to an orator who, in our opinion, had greater resources in debate than THOS. F. MARSHALL. They were inexhaustible, and rendered him unconquerable. If he couldn't succeed with one weapon, he would try another, for all weapons were at his command. He had a wonderful knowledge of the world's history and the political history of the United States; he had a lightning eye to detect a weak point in an antagonist, and the intuition to strike it with unerring and fatal precision; and he possessed all the varied powers of wit, humor, eloquence, pathos and logic. He scattered his gems of every kind around him on all occasions almost as profusely as Nature scatters her flower-seeds. But his taste and judgment were not unfrequently at fault. He was sometimes low when he should have been lofty, and often coarsely or grotesquely humorous when he should have been great. We think that the public misunderstood the character of his mind, and that even he, to some extent, mistook it himself. The people seemed to think, and so did he, that his greatest powers were wit, humor, fancy, poetry, eloquence. He had all these, but his chief power was none of these; it was argument, logic, stern, inexorable, cast-steel logic. His other powers, great as they were, served but as adornments of the limbs of his giant logic.

Seventh Congressional District

In the Seventh Congressional District of this of this City, WM. W. BOARDMAN was last evening nominated for Congress, unadmiously and by acclamation, by a convention composed of the two conventions of the competing wings of the Union party in that District. The fusion for Mr. BOARDMAN was hearty and enthusiastic.

Union Congressional Nominations.

The several Union Congressional Conventions met last night, but, save in one instance, made no regular nominations, each wing of the party appointing a conference committee, with a view of uniting on candidates.

Dr. W. H. Gregg:

DEAR SIR: I have been suffering for a long time with what physicians call Diseases of the Prostate Gland, and Retention of Urine, and was unable to obtain any relief until I used CONSTITUTION WATER, which began to produce its curative effect after taking one or two doses, and no man can be more grateful than I at the results, having suffered all that a man could suffer and live; and rather than be deprived of the medicine, I would be willing to pay Fifty Dollars a bottle for it.

It has not only cured me, but several other officers in my district have been cured by it, and I would recommend everybody suffering from any diseases of the kidneys to use Constitution Water.
